August & September 2017, Issue 235

On tHe EDge

Perfect weather, Super-Heroes aplenty, great entertainment right across the weekend and a lovely, friendly crowd made this year's Nibley festival the best yet.

As ever we're eternally grateful to the many people that contributed, particularly the army of volunteers who worked so hard to create such a memorable festival.

Next year Nibley will take place on 6th and 7th July*. We've no plans for any major changes but as always we're determined to make each year better than the last. Our mission is the same as it was when we started 11 years ago: to deliver a unique, family friendly festival that continually delights and surprises people – and also raises money for good causes.*

We work throughout the year and we're always on the look out for enthusiastic people to help plan and organise the festival. We start again in September so please get in touch (volunteers@nibleyfestival.co.uk) over the summer if you're interested in joining us.

In the meantime please follow us on Twitter and Facebook (@nibleyfestival) to keep up to date with our plans.

Meeting Bloodhound!

Imagine the thrill of driving across a desert at 100 miles per hour! Now multiply that by ten. That's what the Bloodhound SSC project has in its sights. The project, led by one-time World Landspeed (WLS) record holder Sir Richard Noble, aims to produce a "car" which will travel at 1000 mph.

In a recent visit to the Bloodhound Project Technical Centre in Avonmouth, both Science and Engineeering Groups of the Cam & Dursley U3A learned about the project, then viewed the car and the workshop. In an informative presentation by Bloodhound Ambassador Martin Evans, we learned that Richard Noble broke the WLS record at 633mph in 1983; a record which stood for 14 years, until broken by Andy Green in Thrust SSC (Supersonic Car), at 763mph—a project led by Richard Noble. Andy, the only person in the world to have broken the sound barrier on land, will drive Bloodhound in an attempt first to break his own record, and then to achieve 1000mph.

This will take place at Hakskeenpan in South Africa, a site selected from satellite surveys of 20,000 possibilities. It is a dry lake 12 miles long and as flat as a pool table! 317 locals were employed for 130 days over 3 years to pick up every stone from the intended track—over 50,000 tons of stones were removed by hand, and the extreme weather conditions meant the work took 3 years. Why do they all have to be removed, you may ask? The wheels of Bloodhound will be rotating at 10,000 rpm at 1000mph, so hitting even a small stone could be catastrophic.

With technology companies around the world developing and/or sponsoring Bloodhound, another aim is to inspire youngsters to consider careers in Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM). So a massive education programme in primary and secondary schools, colleges and universities, has seen over two million children involved in activities related to Bloodhound, in 6,000 UK schools, and around the world in 220 countries. And project sponsor UWE doubled its engineering undergraduate intake in 2015, thanks mainly due to Bloodhound.

Facts and figures reaching saturation level, we then toured the workshop, to view both the display Bloodhound—a full-scale model used at public events around the country—and the actual Bloodhound, disassembled for development work, along with the three engines (one Rolls-Royce EJ200 Typhoon jet engine; one hybrid rocket engine, and one Jaguar V8 supercharged petrol engine to pump the rocket fuel) which will power the 8-ton vehicle.

Wishing the Bloodhound project well for the record attempt, we thanked Martin Evans for a fascinating visit, and thanked the indefatigable Ruth Kirkup for organising it.

For more information about Bloodhound, or for tickets to watch its first public runs run down the runway at Newquay, Cornwall in October, go to http://www.bloodhoundssc.com

The Parish Council is now engaged in important discussions with contractors to improve the memorial garden area of the Wotton Road cemetery. It is planned to extend the existing memorial garden space to around twice the size utilising the unused space which is currently to the immediate right of the garden. The work is estimated to take around two and a half to three weeks and will involve two work men on site. The contractors are expected to be working on the project later in July. However, no start date has yet been agreed with the contractor. Parishioners will be informed as soon as the Parish Council have these details. Notices are planned to be included in OTE, on the council website, parish noticeboards, and on the gate at the entrance to the cemetery. The larger area for the memorial garden will serve the local community for the future, and later works are also planned to improve the surface and condition of the pavement areas in the cemetery as a whole. These pavement works are likely to take place in August at the earliest.

The next Parish Council meeting is on Monday 7th August at 7.30 pm in the village hall to which all are welcome.

NORTH NIBLEY PRESCHOOL

Wishing all our children a fabulous summer holiday with their family and friends. Hoping they have lots of fun whatever they do. Good luck to those children who are starting Reception in September.

We are back on Monday 4 September 2017 – our new extra morning opening (9am to 1pm) during term time. We will be continuing the fun had during the holidays and telling each other what we have done.

If you are interested in your child joining our pre-school there are some places available for this year. We operate in the Village Hall on Monday from 9.00am to 1.00pm and Tues-Fri from 9.00am-3.30pm (term time only). Please leave a message on 07842280220 and we will call you back with more details or drop in anytime and meet our lovely staff and children.

Our Bumps, Babies and Toddlers Group is also in full swing on Monday from 9.30-11.00am in the meeting room of the village hall. Each session is themed with an activity and a healthy snack. Please come along to meet local mums and have a coffee.

How about joining the On The Edge team?

It's not very time-consuming and can be good fun. Seeing the final product is very satisfying.

We'd welcome the chance to tell you more: ring an editor (see P11) or contact the OTE mailbox: nibleyote@googlemail.com

SUMMER OUTING TO BATH

On the 6th July the North Nibley Historical Group enjoyed a fascinating guided walk of Bath by Nibley's own local expert Trevor Jones.

Queen Anne made Bath 'the' place to be seen after declaring that the waters had eased her ailments. From 1740–95 it grew from a small walled city of 3500 citizens to a Georgian masterpiece housing some 35000 souls, the only Unesco World Heritage city in Britain with over 5000 listed buildings.

Our tour began at Lansdown Crescent, designed by John Palmer to follow the natural contours of the land and is arguably the best architectural example in Bath where crescents were first built.

In contrast Somerset Place flaunts many architectural rules with its features following the slopes creating odd visual effects. Equally it was fascinating to learn that while the front facades must meet the architect's design the rears have no such constraint.

Passing the Doric house, built in 1810 with no windows on the East side to allow the painting of a vast battle scene mural inside, we moved on to Cavendish then the Royal crescents the latter designed by John Wood but finished by his son John Wood junior. Finally we entered the magnificent Circus, another J Wood Snr design, before repairing to a local café to enjoy the now traditional cream tea. Many thanks to Trevor and to Jenny for organising everyone!

Next Meeting: Sep 7th "Witchfynders" by John Putley 7.30 Nibley House

SCHOOL REPORT—THE AGONY AND THE ECSTASY!

The summer term is a curious blend of highs and lows. With the excitement at seeing the oldest children reach the peak of their skills (during their time with us) comes the sadness of watching them leave. With the joys of seeing so many of the year's plans come to fruition comes the frustration that it must be documented and reported.

And we have the annual written report to parents. Until you've been through it and done it, it's hard to portray just how high this mountain is. Perhaps some numbers will help? We have 109 children, and they get a report, usually totalling around 1,000 words each. So some teachers have written 30,000 in the last 3 weeks, in addition to their regular, full time teaching hours. But we teach 3 different curricular, each with different reporting formats. There are 3 different covering letters, 5 different sets of exam results, 5 letters to explain these, 12 sets of comparative data and some children have additional music reports too. Older children complete self-evaluation reports and every family has the "Right of reply" sheet. Then some get all this doubled. We will send out over 1500 pieces of paper. The risk of inadvertently infringing someone's private information is real, particularly since it's just the administrator and I who 'stuff' the envelopes. As I said, in addition to 'the day job'. Oh the agony…

But then there is the Summer Production. Ah... the ecstasy!

This year's production was entitled "What A Knight". The juniors took the packed audiences back to the days of King Arthur, and a hopeful, aspirant knight called Wot. The costumes were sumptuous, the props and scenery astounding, the songs joyful and the children well-rehearsed. "What a show!"

Awesome teamwork resulted in another triumph for the children and staff. Children from Class 4 provided the following quotes:

”I felt honoured to be in a play that was so good”. “It was fun to play the fool.” “It felt strange being booed by the audience but I enjoyed it.” ”It was hard being pushed all the time and I got really hot inside the bald cap and the wig.” “I enjoyed playing a baddie.” “It was amazing! I enjoyed it and my parents thought I was really good, so that makes me proud.” “It was brilliant and we worked well as a team. I was a bit nervous for the solo songs.” “I enjoyed playing the part of the jester.” “It was a great experience, but it was also a bit scary.” “It was supreme and I thought it was even better than the previous year.”

Another year, nearly over. And yes, in case you were wondering, the highlights DO make it all worthwhile! So much so, we'll do it all again next year! Have a wonderful summer.

Best wishes,
Paul Batchelor

A BIG THANK YOU to the Music Festival Committee for allowing us to have a Reflection tent. Several people made use of it and it would be lovely to continue with it. Even if only one person found it useful, it would be worth it, so several at an event such as this hopefully makes us indispensable.

TYNDALE PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

Tyndale Photography Club will begin its 2017/2018 season at 7:30pm on Thursday 28th September at North Nibley Village Hall and will meet every Thursday evening until the end of April 2018.

The aim of the club is to provide an environment where everyone can enjoy their photography, share their know-how and help each other to make better pictures. We are photographers of all abilities, from relative beginners to the very experienced, we are from all walks of life and we are mostly all from within a five mile radius of North Nibley. Tyndale Photography Club is for anyone interested in photography, regardless of level, equipment, experience and/or age. We are a friendly group of people who share the same aim of wanting to take better photographs. We love photography in all its forms and we love people who love photography.

Icelandic Church by Steve Daniell

Members use a wide variety of different types of camera, accessories and photo editing software. There's always someone on hand to offer advice and share expertise, both about the cameras themselves and in the use of post processing software packages, this enables everyone to make the most of their camera and their snapshots.

Each season we have several outside speakers, either amateurs talking about their areas of interest or professionals talking about their work. We have the opportunity, if we wish, to enter club competitions which encourages us to go that 'extra mile' and bring out our own personal creativity; we also learn from the comments made by the visiting judges' assessment of our pictures.

We will begin the new season with an informal evening of a 'U-Judge' Print Competition and Social. This is an evening where members are invited to bring mounted prints which will be displayed, everyone present will then vote in a knockout manner until a winning print will emerge and the photographer will be awarded a trophy. This will be followed by a buffet supper supplied by members.

The following week, Thursday 5th October, Peter Gennard MFIAP EFIAP will come along to give us talk named 'PG Tips'.

The Club has a membership of around 50 and is always pleased to welcome new members, we offer a friendly environment in which to enjoy and improve your photography. So, beginner or expert, if you've an interest in photography and would like to improve your skills as part of an affable and welcoming group, then please contact us through our webpage at www.tyndalephoto.org.

The Ramblings of the Associate Priest ……..about being Castaway

Today I read Psalm 79 in which God laments over the Israelites' fickle approach to being children of God. When things were bad, for instance when they had no water to drink, they cried out to God in in their anguish but as soon as God took pity on them and answered their cries and their thirst for human comforts were satisfied, off they went on their own sinful ways again not giving a hoot for God or for the great things that he had done for them since the beginning. Reading Job in comparison, he lost all of his worldly wealth, social stature, lost his health and had all manner of nasty things to contend with during his time of trial but never really gave up on God.

All of this reminded me of the spring of 1996 when I set off to Ascension Island in the South Atlantic Ocean with the Army Ornithological Society to map the breeding grounds of, and count the population of Sooty Terns - sorry to have misused some of your tax payments!
I discovered that Ascension Island had a castaway in 1725. Leendert Hasenbosch was set down on the volcanic outcrop after a ship's trial went against him. Captain and crew threw a couple of water barrels into the surf after him and sailed into the sunset knowing that Ascension Island was uninhabited and had no water for drinking unless it rained. His water barrels never made it to the shore and it didn't rain much. He died in about six months but left behind a diary.
It took me years to track down a copy of that diary, but on reading it and his background, what is blatantly obvious is that at no time did Hasenbosch's faith waiver either in the good times or the bad. In the final days before he died he was still praising God for his loving goodness towards him.
So it seems to me that if you don't give up on God then you won't get that feeling that God has given up on you - which of course he never will – He has called you by name: you are His.

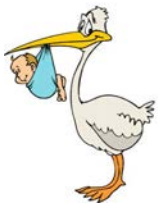
There will be an exhibition of photos at the Chapel on 11&12 November, so start hunting now! More information in October's OTE.

Congratulations



to Kate & Paul on the safe arrival of William on 30th June, a brother for Austin.

Superfast Broadband

Fibre to the Premises:

Might you benefit?

We still await a clear update from BT regarding progress on the installation of the fibre link to the Warrend Hill box.

Meanwhile, we have noticed another project which should benefit at least some people in the village: Fastershire's website (http://www.fastershire.com) states that they have placed a contract with Gigaclear to provide Superfast Broadband via Fibre to the Premises (FTTP) to at least some of the village. The site has a postcode checker which shows if your property is included in phase 2 of the Gigaclear contract. The minimum package is symmetrical 50Mb with no cap!

Gigaclear's website also tells you if your house or business could benefit, although it is vaguer. Residents are also invited to register their interest. It can only help if as many of us as possible register via their web site https://www.gigaclear.com/postcode-checker/ as this could result in more of the village getting access to the superfast service.

Please register your interest!
